This requirement is in place due to the potential conflicts of interest, which could easily arise whilst employed as a locksmith or security professional. In addition each candidate receives a manual (developed and used by practising locksmiths) that will enable you to open over 95% of household mortice locks which the British Standards committee have classified as 'thief resistant' (again we will show you how).

Standard course price is £675 for January 2009 until December 2009. For each candidate who completes the course we include a 12-month FREE dedicated technical support line.

All courses need to be paid in full 2 weeks before the course starts. As we have restricted the course classroom to a maximum of 8 we have to operate on a first come first served basis.
